Dave,

As EPA stated during yesterday's joint base conference call, Doug and I have discussed the potential pre-meeting idea.

We would prefer that the AF submit the documents first, the regulators would then take a look at them, and then we could have a call or emails to discuss the value of such a meeting / site visit, vs meeting the timeframes you ultimately request. If there is to be a meeting, we would opt for either phone conference or a meeting here in NY. Our travel funds are limited as usual, and this would most likely involve several EPA staff to make it worthwhile, based on how you presented the idea.

EPA is very sensitive to the PFC issue, and our staff is aware that these documents will be coming. They are also sensitive to the PFC issue, and knowledgeable as well, so I am hopeful that we will be able to be responsive, whether there is a meeting or not.

Please let me know if you have any questions. Thanks.

Bob
